

The first planet was Mercury. Mercury was a hotheaded show off. He liked being the center of attention, and was always boasting.

Venus was the next planet. She was a planet who was always interested in everyone else's business.

Earth is the next planet. Earth is very busy. He only seems to have time for himself.

Mars is the warrior of them all. He may be small but he knows how to take the win.

Next came Jupiter, the largest planet. He loved to use his size to get whatever he wanted.

Then there was Saturn. He was the athlete of the group. Saturn spent most of his time exercising.

Next in line was Uranus, who was a little on the immature side. She most enjoyed shopping and talking on the phone.

Neptune was the second to last planet in the line up and all she ever wanted to do was read and learn.
